IMPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD. PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Oct. 20 .- It is just ten years ago, almost to the day, since the Pimlico race-track was the scene of as much enthusiasm as to-day. On that occasion Parole defeated the famous Ten Broeck and Tom Ochiltree in a dash of two miles and a half, when the owner of Linden, the winner of the $5,000 purse, in his enthusiasm picked up the then light-weight jockey, Barrett, and placed him on a post to be cheered and cheered again by the assembled thousands. It was one of the first great triumphs of the Rancocas Stable, and it was the inspira-tion that carried the "cherry and black" to greater triumphs in England, in which Parole bore no small share, and Iroquois won lasting fame at Epsom, Ascot and Don-caster.

Racing having languished somewhat here Racing having languished somewhat here during the past few years, some enterprising citizens raised a purse of $5,000 to stimulate a revival with a race worthy of the money. How well they succeeded to-day's crowd shows. For, although it rained nearly all the morning and continued very threatening, especially as the trains left the city, there is a very large attendance, not only of Baltimoreans, but many are present from New York and Philadelphia. The rain is doubly regretted, for it killed the fast track and made the going somewhat slow. Of those named to start, the rain perhaps caused the "scratching" of the Dwyers' pair, Kingston and Bessie June. But in their places appeared Dry Monopole and the Baltimore horse Dunboyne. The besting was heavy, with Linden and Firenzi carrying the bulk of the money, each in turn being favorites.

bulk of the money, each in turn being favorites.

As the track became heavy, Firenzi became stronger, for, like all the Glenelgs, she can run in the mud. Linden, however, confirmed the good show he made at Jerome last week, and having fourteen pounds the best of the weights over Firenzi, he literally made an exhibition of all. Taking the lead at the half, he romped home almost alone, with Firenzi second and Dunboyne third. The enthusiasm was great, and if the Master of Preakness could have been put up on a post, he certainly would have been. As it was he was killed almost with congratulations, in which his trainer. Charley Littlefield, shared, while the old-timer, Billy Hayward, who rode the first Dixie winner here in 1870, was not forgotten.

Of the other races the favorites, Bradford, Lelex and Phil Lee won the first, second and fifth. The fourth was the Baltimore surprise. It was won by Ontario, and paid $83.75 in the mutuels.

Before the County Democracy Committeemen journeyed upstairs, they looked as if they feared trouble ahead. It was afterwards learned that they had heard of Tammany Hall's ultimatum.

they feared trouble ahead. It was afterwards learned that they had heard of Tammany Hall's ultimatum.

It seems that the Tammany Hall leaders held a caucus this morning and resolved not to consent to the nomination of James Fitzgerald for District-Attorney. The Tammany Hall leaders also resolved to stand on this position even if union negotiations were broken off.

This action on the part of Tammany Hall This action on the part of Tammany Ban-has, as might be expected, created consterna-tion and dismay among the County Democ-racy leaders. They are in a quandary, and do not know how to extricate themselves. The Tammany Hall leaders are of opinion that Fitzgerald will be withdrawn and a compromise candidate, possibly Mr. Martine, compromise candidate, possibly Mr. Martine, suggested.

suggested.

After the two sub-committees had held an informal meeting they separated and each committee began a conference by itself.

At 2 o'clock the sub-committees went once more into joint session. As Police Justice Charles Welde was entering the room he said to an Evenno World reporter: "The representatives of Tammany Hall will not agree to a union with Fitzgerald for District-Attorney. You may put that down as settled. We would prefer the nomination of De Lancey Nicoll."

There was a rumor that the County Democrats might switch off from Fitzgerald to Col. John R. Fellows, They are as much opposed to Nicoll as the Tammany Hall leaders are to Fitzgerald.

A committee from the Young Men's Democratic Club and a delegation representing the German-American Independent Citizens' Association asked for a hearing. They favor the nomination of Delancey Nicoll for District-Attorney. Their petition will be presented to the full Joint Conference Committee meeting.

Chairman Edward Murphy, jr., of the Democratic State Committee, and ex-State Treasurer Robert A. Maxwell arrived at the scene of conference at 2.30 o'clock, and held interviews with Commissioner Croker and Police Justice Power, who were called out of the conference room. Mr. Murphy and Mr. Nicoll's nomination would be worth at least 10.000 votes in this city to the State ticket.

Shortly before 3 o'clock the Tammany Hall and County Democracy leaders adjourned the large dining-room in a body and came near frightening the regular guests out of their wits. The fourteen harmonizers occupied four tables.

Police Justice Power ate mock-turtle soup and roast goose, with beets and onions for vegetables.

Commissioner Creker ordered spring chicken and roast spring lamb.

Congressman Campbell partook of consommé Colbert, ris de veau pique and wound up with orange sherbets.

Ex-Alderman Barker tackled pigs' feet and lady fingers.

Police Justice Murray went for boiled turkey and sago pudding.

Register Slevin struck broiled striped bass and timbale of capon, a la Perigord.

Police Justice O'Reilly enjoyed tenderloin of pork braise, mashed turnips and peach pie.

Police Justice Andrew J. White said he had had a late breakfast. He had a corner on a bottle of champagne and a plate of crackers.

W. Bourke Cockran was the epicure of the crowd, and wrote out his order on a card. It included nearly the entire bill of fare.

At 3.30 the conference diners were still at work with knife and fork and talking harmony across the table.

Commissioner Croker finished his dinner in quicker time than his conference colleagues. As he strolled into the readingroom he was met by an Evenna World reporter. The Commissioner said he had no objections to stating the true situation of affairs regarding the Conference and the prospect.

"Tammany Hall," he remarked, "objects objections to stating the true situation of affairs regarding the Conference and the prospect.

"Tammany Hall," he remarked, "objects to a union with Fitzgerald as the choice for District-Attorney. We have no personal objections to Mr. Fitzgerald, but we think his nomination might result in the defeat of the ticket. The County Democracy leaders know our position and opinion in this matter. You may say that the representatives of Tammany Hall will not back down."

"Will you insist upon the nomination of Mr. Nicoll?"

"I do not see how we could appear as dictators to the County Democracy. We do not say that they must nominate Mr. Nicoll, but we do object to Mr. Fitzgerald's nomination. Our Conference Committee has been waiting for the County Democracy conference committee ever since noon. We have not yet met in formal, regular session, although we have come together several times as indiviuals. A majority of us dined together and had short talks, but no definite expression of views were had. We are still waiting for the County Democracy committees to notify ns when they are ready to begin the conference. They appear to be consulting among themselves."

"How about Tammany Hall candidates on when they are ready to begin the conference, They appear to be consulting among themselves."

"How about Tammany Hall candidates on the ticket?"

"We are waiting to see how a union can be perfected. I will say frankly that nothing at all has been decided as to the make-up of the ticket. We do not know whether we will name the candidates for Comptroller or Surrogate or what candidates for judges are to be selected by Tammany Hall. A good deal hinges on the District Attorneyship. We will first have to decide to unite."

Police Justice Power left the hotel after eating his dinner. There is no doubt whatever that the County Democracy leaders are in a peculiar predicament. Many of the politicians around the Westminster Hotel think that they will ask Mr. Martine to stand for re-election. It is generally admitted that they will be compelled to abandon Fitzgerald or end the conference with Tammany Hall.

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 20.-Since 90'clock this morning honest farmers of the Republican political persuasion have been rolling into this quiet and peaceful village. The Franklin House, on Broadway, is the goal they all steered for, and Landlord Ziba Car. penter has had his hands full trying to prepare for their thirst and hunger. The immediate excuse for the arrival of all the political farmers is the Republican Convention to nominate a candidate for State Senator from the Twelfth District. Well sprinkled in among the farmers are pol-

Chief and easily greatest among them all is perpetual speaker "Jimmy" Husted, gayer and more chipper than ever and wear-ing a spotless black scarf-pin of much brillticians who make no pretense of agriculture.

Although more than a hundred men are picnicking and junketing around the picnicking and junketing around the Franklin House, only twenty of them are delegates. They are the masters of the situation, or think they are, and accept drinks and cigars in a mildly deprecatory way as tributes to their greatnes. The scintillating Husted weaves in and out among them like a bald meteor shedding the light of his countenance upon them and telling them what they must do to be saved. In all this he is ably seconded by Mr. J. Chimborazo Burns, whose soft gray whiskers wear an added curl on account of the whirl in which he labors.

The convention met at 12 o'clock sharp, At 12.02 sharp it adjourned for dinner. Some

The convention met at 12 o'clock sharp. At 12.02 sharp it adjourned for dinner. Some thought that Landlord Ziba had played it sharp on them by ringing the dinner-bell so soon after they had been called to order, but all went away thankfully to their feed.

Only half the great men could be accommodated at a time, so the others louvged about the verandas and lawn and steadfantly regarded the signs of the times. On the veranda they were delighted to find this announcement in the shape of a large leadpencilled sign:

Promptly at 1 o'clock the convention cot together again in great good humor. The district comprises Westchester and Rockiand Counties, Westchester having three Assemblymen to Rockland's ones. As the basis of representation in the convention is five delegates for each Assemblyman, it is easy to see how overwhelmingly Westchester has its own how overwhelmingly Westchester has its own way.

Among some of the great men who came to order at the tap of Chairman D, Wiley Travis's gavel are Port Warden Isaac W. Edsall, a strong Robertson man; George A. Brandreth, Marsh H. Crapsey, W. H. Rose, the Adonis of the convention; James Osborna, the mighty hunter, and five stalwart and handsome young men from Yonkers, with J. Irving Burns, of Chimberazonian fame, as their head.

The way in which harmony spread its soft wings over the convention was remarkable. There were many little booms rambling around, but they didn't clash with one another the least bit. That was the effect of the great quantities of pie and hard cider the delegates had esten at dinner. There were three kinds of pie. The harmony was only temporary, however, and disappeared very shortly after Chairman Travis called the meeting to order.

There were only two candidates, ex-Collector of the Port Wm. H. Robertson, who was Westchester's choice and Lawyer Clarence Lexow, of Nyack, who vainly hoped for the nomination on the strength of Rockland's backing. backing.
Young Arthur Tompkins, of Bo

County, a timid youth with not much voice or whiskers, nominated Lexow. He said that Rockland County had not had the Senator for years and it was time they had their rights. There was some applause by the Rockland County men, but the Westchester men looked in a wondering way, as they do not believe in offices for Rockland County, where the voters are Demogratis.

offices for Rockland County, where the votars are Democrats.

Pillman Brandreth made a well-conned speech in favor of Judge Robertson. There were some entertaining things in it. After calling Judge Robertson the long-needed Bismarck of the Republican party of Wast-chester County, he said:

"We need a strong man at Albany, William H. Robertson is his name and he lives in the Third Assembly District. He has had a vast experience and for thirty years he has held the offices of Supervisor, Assemblyman, Senator, Congressman and Collector of the Port."

This long list had an unexpected effect on the audience and one of the spectators shouted, "Ain't that enough? Does he want the earth?"

want the earth?

want the earth?"

The Rockland County men thought the question pertinent, and Mr. Brandreth was perturbed and tangled in his speech, but he recovered and continued: "The name of recovered and continued: "The name of Judge Robertson is a synonym for unusual purity and integrity. It shines like stars. This nomination for Senator to-day is only a stepping stone to the Secretaryanip of the Treasury under Blaine. He is the right-hand man of Blaine, and honored and esteemed as no other man is. We will have a walk-over, Judge Robertson is the hero of a hundred fights. If he is going to have a Waterloo, is will not come this time."

Tompkins suggested that it would be a good thing to nominate a cleaner man than Judge Robertson and a man against whom there was not so much factional feeling.

Then the vote was taken and Robertson was nominated, receiving 18 votes to Lexow's 7.
